Local institution will close its doors in a few weeks

By ALISON ALOISIO

The regulars are wondering where they'll go for a cuppa and camaraderie after July 15.

The Red Top Truck Stop, a Bethel institution over the past 10 years, will close after breakfast on Mother's Day. Business owner Esther Wilson's 10-year lease with building owner C.N. Brown is expiring, and she's calling it quits. She said she's not considering moving the restaurant elsewhere.

"I couldn't afford to even if I wanted to. Every building in Bethel is at least $100,000. And then there's remodeling, water hookups, parking, and meeting other regulations. It's too risky what you have to put up up front, especially when you're trying to get it back a burger at a time," Wilson said Friday morning as she served coffee.

Part of daily life

The Route 2 diner has been a way of life for some. "I don't come here for the food. I come for the camaraderie," said SAD44 bus driver Sandra Gunther. Ernest Angering, who comes nearly every morning with his brother Avery, said he'll miss the place.

"We hold town meetings here. We elect the president and fire him. Same was with the governor. Before people can come, have coffee, and meet old friends. Now it's going to be gone," he said.

Away changed his brother's sentiments. "The other places around have plastic coffee cups and new bills. We want to go where Esther goes. She may have a new law for her home for coffee," he said.

As the morning rush slowed, Wilson sat down at the counter and talked about her business, and its passing.

"People choose a place where they're comfortable. The bottom line here isn't profit and loss. It's people," she said -- as evidenced by her, and her staff's, caring attitude toward their customers.

"If an older couple comes in regularly, and then they don't show up, the staff will check up on them to make sure they're OK. And if it's somebody's birthday, we put a candle in their donut or muffin, or put a sign on the door. That's what makes it personalized," Wilson said.

She said when a Colebrook, N.H., woman's car broke down at the diner around closing time one day, Wilson and the staff stayed with her until help arrived. "I saw her a year later in Colebrook, and she remembered me. She was still telling people about how good we'd been to her," she said.

The restaurant has also served as a branch office for many area businesses.

"People can get business taken care of here. If you need logging, or a plumber, or a bulldozer, you can come in here and ask, or leave a message."

"The businesses should give the cashiers here a box of chocolates at Christmas -- they play secretary for half the businesses around. People say, 'If you can't get hold of me, call the Red Top,'" Wilson said.

She worries what will happen to her customers when she closes.

"The thing that bothers me the most is where the people are going to go. I don't think of the Red Top as mine. I think of it as the town's," she said.

As for herself, Wilson plans to take about six months off.

"I'm not going to rush into anything. I think the restaurant business is the hardest to leave. It's like leaving home," she said.

Nationally known garden may be transplanted to new home in Greenwood

Current site in South Paris attracts 3,000 worldwide visitors annually

By ALISON ALOISIO

The lilacs and flowers of a legendary South Paris garden may soon be blooming in Greenwood.

For 50 years, 97-year-old Bernard McLaughlin has cultivated one of the largest lilac collections on the East Coast, right in his own back yard.

The six-acre garden, which also includes many varieties of flowers, was featured in "Better Homes and Gardens" last year.

Now, his son Richard plans to transplant shoots or originals of all the plants to a property he will lease near his home at Mud Pond. He expects the process to take about two years and cover 10-15 acres. Once established, the garden would be open to the public.

96 lilac varieties

The elder McLaughlin's pride in his collection is obvious. Last Friday he was out inspecting this year's bloom, calling most of the lilacs, as well as the flowers, by their Latin species names.

"That one is a very wonderful bloomer," he said frequently, speaking of the plants like children.

The garden contains 96 varieties of lilacs, including Japanese, Korean, and French.

Some are quite rare. Flowers include bleeding heart, irises, forget-me-nots (including rare white ones), primrose, rhododendron, yellow daisies, yellow ladies' slippers, buttercups, oriental poppies, peonies, Virginia bluebells, foxgloves, trillium, violets, and many others.

The flowering of the lilacs is somewhat behind this year, due to an unusual combination of spring weather. But a "purple glory" was in full bloom, living up to its name.

The white forget-me-nots were part of his late wife's bridal bouquet.

"I especially like white flowers," McLaughlin said.

Regular visitors to the garden can watch the colors change through the growing season, as each species flowers.

"I like to have something blooming all the time," said McLaughlin.

An iris sent to him by one of the country's leading hybridizers has special significance. It was named after McLaughlin.

He has long shared his garden with the public. About 3,000 people a year visit the South Paris arboretum, recognized as such by the National Lilac Association.

"People have come from every state and abroad," said McLaughlin.

And if his son's plans are successful, Greenwood, too, can look forward to a feast of colors and fragrances, as another generation of McLaughlin lilacs and flowers takes root.

Gould sends forth its 159th class of graduates

In the 159th Gould Academy commencement exercises last Saturday, keynote speaker David B. Hawkes '62 invited the class of 1995 to help end international and domestic violence by the year 2012, an invitation his class received 33 years ago.

Hawkes, treasurer of the Gould Academy Board of Trustees, also honored retiring biology instructor Charlie Newell '62 and the late Gary Hill '62 during his address.

Hawkes' youngest son, Walter, graduated on Saturday.

Valedictorian Nancy Beryl Morgan spoke of her winter trimester in Spain as an example of how Gould prepares its students for the risks of life.

Morgan was awarded the academic book prize for Spanish, the Scholarship Shield, the Honor Plaque, and the Alumni Association Award.

Alan B. Ordway, chairman of the Gould Academy Board of Trustees, and Headmaster William P. Clough III presented diplomas to the 59 seniors.

Parents from as far away as Japan, Sweden, Korea, and California traveled to Bethel to attend the ceremony.

(Photos of this year's graduates and graduation events can be found on pages 8-10.)

Candidates' forum; hearing

By MICHAEL DANIELS

There will be a televised call-in forum Sunday, June 11, to provide Bethel residents with an opportunity to ask questions of the three Board of Selectmen candidates.

In a change from last year's format, this year there will be no studio audience or panel, but the forum will be televised live and residents are encouraged to phone in their questions.

State Rep. Al Barth has agreed to moderate the forum.

There are two selectmen's openings this year and three candidates: incumbent John Thurston and challengers Ruth Grover and Jane Lowe.

The forum is co-sponsored by an informal citizens' group and by the Bethel Area Chamber of Commerce.

Hearing on ordinance revisions

On Thursday, June 1, there will be a public hearing on proposed revisions to the Bethel Sign, Subdivision and Site Plan Review ordinances.

The Sign Ordinance revisions have been discussed at length in earlier editions of The Citizen. Copies of the proposed changes are available in the Town Office.

The revisions to the Subdivision and Site Plan Review ordinances are identical, and consist of the addition of a section giving the Planning Board the authority to review the impact of a project's curb cuts on traffic flow and safe vehicular access.

No specific limitations are proposed on the number or frequency of curb cuts, but applicants are referred to a state handbook, "Access Management: Improving the Efficiency of Maine Arterials." A copy of that booklet is also available for examination in the Town Office.

Thursday's hearing will be held in the Town Office Meeting Room, beginning at 7 p.m.

Board votes to keep WES principal

By ALISON ALOISIO

After receiving a 106-signature petition, the SAD44 School Board voted last week to keep the Woodstock School principal's position in the FY '96 budget.

The petition, presented by PTA representative Cathie Sangiolo-Gaidis, protested the suggestion that principal Bruce Bell's job be eliminated. Bell currently serves as both principal and guidance counselor.

Chairman Merton Brown had said three weeks ago that the move might be considered as a budget-saving measure.

The board had added their own items to the budget on May 3. The additions upped the administration's recommended expenditure budget increase of 7.48 percent to 10.73 percent.

Sangiolo-Gaidis said in a letter accompanying the petition that the school's administration had changed frequently.

"We do not feel that the needs of our children will be met if administrative changes continue," she wrote. Woodstock director Margaret Hand also read a prepared statement chiding Brown for giving budget-cutting suggestions to the newspaper rather than to the board.

The ideas had not yet been discussed by the board at the time Brown gave them to the newspaper. "I don't think the principals should have to get it from the newspaper that their jobs may be in jeopardy," Hand said.

TAXPAYERS SHOULD GET THE JOBS

To the Editor:

In regards to residents should get the jobs in Greenwood-Woodstock, I agree. I live in Greenwood. I asked one selectman from each town last year for the full-time job, but was told there were no openings. The same week the man from Rumford took the job. The opening was never put in in the newspaper. They prefer out-of-towners, but they send us the tax bills.

BELLES AND BRIDES THANKS

To the Editor:

The "Bethel Belles & Brides" Fashion Show, which took place on Saturday, May 20, at the Gehring House was a great success, taking in over $800 in donations to help fund Bethel's 1996 Bicentennial Celebration.

We would like to thank everyone who was involved in the show: NTL and Kath Schandelmair for providing us with such a beautiful setting, our 30 lovely models whose enthusiasm and willingness to work together made all of our planning worthwhile, all of the people who generously allowed us to use their gowns, Telstar Graphic Arts for the printing, The Bethel Frame Shop, Kendall Insurance and Preb's Pharmacy for advertising, The Bethel Rotary Club, Brooks Bros. and Glidden's Foodliner for their contributions to the refreshments, Sam Miele, Debbie Barlow and Sheri Doxon from Forbici for creating appropriate hairdos, The Unicorn Flower Shop for the lovely plants, Donald Brown for photography, Donald and Arlene Brown for music, Aruna Gibbs for the beautiful cake, George Nickerson, Nancy Grover and Scott Dennis for videotaping, our commentator, Ed Hitecock, Ruth Feeney and Nancy Grover for all of their help with preparation and during the show, Kevin McMahon for his help during and after the show, Stacie Vachon and Jane Vogt for letting us pick their gorgeous spring flowers to decorate with, Sue Cross for helping keep everyone in order during the show, Charlie Raymond and Delma McMillin for donating uniforms and escorting our WWII brides, and all the people who stayed and helped us pick up, clean and return gowns after it was all over.

We also want to thank our audience, and hope they enjoyed watching the show as much as we enjoyed putting it together. It was a lot of work, much more than we anticipated when we started out, but it was all worth it to see the smiles, and hear the "oohs" and "aahs" as the various gowns appeared.

FRIENDS OF TMS

To the Editor:

On Friday, May 19 the Friends of TMS hosted a wonderful evening of fun filled events at Telstar for the Middle School students. Many individuals donated their time, energy, and enthusiasm to add to the success of our "Garden Fling with Friends." Laughter, dancing, refreshments, prizes and many games filled the night.

We'd like to publicly thank and recognize a number of significant contributors: Eileen Cole for organizing Make Your Own Sunlakes, Beth Brown and Dan Wadley for a great job as the DJ's, Donnie Kallin and David Clark as the artists who guided the mural making, Karen Paul as the model expert, Ray Morjan and Charlie Raymond as the overseers and participants of volleyball and soccer, Duke Brown and Sue Howe as the experienced chaperones, Dick Blackman for set-up and logistics, Margaret Graham and her sewing machine that helped produce many, many bean bags, and Jeff Parsons as the master of ceremonies for the speeches, sack race and relay race. A special thank you goes to Tom Martineau and Jean Elias for donating us all with their juggling feats. And to the Unicorn Flower Shop for donating several helium balloons to add to the festivities. It was a grand evening. Thank you.

STYLISH BICENTENNIAL KICK-OFF

To the Editor:

The Chairman of the Bethel Bicentennial Committee, I would like to congratulate Danna Nickerson and Ruth Grover, plus all the other volunteers who made the Fashion Show on Saturday such a success. It was a genuine community effort and a significant forerunner of all that can be expected to happen next year as Bethel celebrates its 200th birthday.

On behalf of a grateful committee, thank you for all your work and dedication to the community.

School Budget

Brown did not reply to her comments.

The board did vote to designate up to $14,000 for a long term comprehensive study of all administrative positions in the district.

Now you see it, now you don't

Directors also voted to take out of the budget an elementary music position they had previously added.

The music teacher had not been recommended by the administration. Some directors had said the district's use of current dollars was spread too thin.

But Hanel said Monday she had to thought the decision, and now felt half the cost of the teacher should be set aside for principals to use for selected music activities, such as after school music programs.

The board voted $14,000 for that purpose.

Elevator upgrade stays

Directors voted as well to keep $31,000 in the budget for upgrading an elevator at Telstar to comply with the Americans with Disabilities Act (ADA).

Bethel director Lane Lowe had suggested the money be taken out in favor of applying for federal grant money to pay for the upgrade. Supt. Ron Jenkins said he wasn't sure if a grant application at this time would fit into the budget cycle.

The board did direct administration to look into the grant money, on the chance that the $31,000 would not have to be used.

After taking a brief break at 10 p.m., directors returned and a majority voted abruptly to adjourn. No indication was given on what budget items will be discussed next.

The next budget session will be June 5 at 7 p.m. at Telstar.

Other business

Directors also learned that the artwork of four Andover School students will be featured in a nationally distributed calendar.

The work of Eric Swasey, Heather Glover, Bo Pingree, and Katie Swasey will appear in the 1995-96 Voices for Health School Year Calendar.

The students drew and submitted pictures on the theme of "What it means to be healthy," as part of the district health curriculum.

Newly director Martin Hinkle was absent from the meeting.

School administrators say Ireland visit was a learning experience

BELIEF IN ATTITUDE

Telstar principal Ed Davis would like to offer his students the quality of vocational education available in Northern Ireland, but without the tardiness imposed on Irish students.

Davis, along with SAD44 Supt. Ron Jenkins and principal David Murphy, visited Northern Ireland the week of May 8.

"Seventy-five percent of Irish students begin vocational education in the equivalent of sixth grade, and continue through 11th grade," he said.

At 16, students can qualify for two more years of vocational education.

The program sounds ideal, but there's one catch - it means children's careers are often decided at age 11.

"They take what's called the '11 plus' test in fifth grade. Twenty-five percent go on to academically oriented 'grammar' school, while the other 75 percent go to a comprehensive high school with a vocational/academic mix," Davis said.

Although their fate is not sealed, Davis said students generally con-time on the "track" they test into.

"I have a problem with the test, and determining the students' future in the fifth grade. It's too early. There are people teaching in the primary schools there who would like to see it changed. It's devastating for the students who just miss the mark," he said.

Davis said SAD44's effort to bring more NOVA vocational programs to Telstar next year is a step in the right direction for area high school students.

He hopes it will give students more vocational options, but avoid the tracking pitfall of the Irish system.

Davis also hopes student and teacher exchanges will result from the trip, which was sponsored in part by the Bethel Rotary Club.

"We might start with two-week exchanges. Longer-term ones might be possible. We'd probably do short-term ones for the students," he said.

Davis said a format similar to the Rotary Club's previous Spanish exchanges might be used, with fundraising a combined effort of students and the club.

Trip justified?

The decision by SAD44 administrators to go to Northern Ireland was questioned by some, who felt the trip did not have enough value to district education to justify it.

Some administrators took the week as professional development time.

Davis defended the trip.

"We made some connections there. We have some names and faces to communicate with. Having the chance to talk to the adults who teach students there gives a better feel for their style of education."

"By being immersed in it, you get a better understanding than by just reading about it. We can bring back and share firsthand experiences, which are of more value to incorporate into our curriculum."

Davis said he and the other administrators would go over information gathered, and then make specific plans for incorporating it into SAD44 educational goals.

Maine Militias Nothing New

by MIKE BROWN

Following the Oklahoma City bombing catastrophe a month ago, the press hit was "militia." Maine media, as well as national and in other states, rushed to highlighted headlines such militia organizations as they could find.

It was as if militias were newly found cells of guerrillas, insurgents and Garibaldians in a national conspiracy about to commit treason against the United States.

Well, militias as such, and highly trained in the use of arms, have been around since the Greek city-states.

America's most famous militia, prompted by the Second Continental Congress in 1775 (which was almost entirely advisory) was the "Minute Men." And it was from the origins of the colonial militias that our federal National Guard came into being through the Dick Bill of 1903. The National Guard in that year was officially designated the "Organized Militia of the United States."

Militias of sorts continued throughout the country buttressed by the 2nd Amendment of the U.S. Constitution giving the right of people to keep and bear arms. The Maine Constitution mirrors that right in Article 1, Section 16: "Every citizen has a right to keep and bear arms and this right shall never be questioned."

Maine has a rather fascinating episode of state militias - the Maine State Guard. It was organized from various and loosely structured civilian volunteer militias existing around Maine by authority of Congress in October 1940.

An example was the American Legion Brigade of Oxford County existing in 1940. Although state law had some ambiguous laws on the books about the illegality of such militias, the Brigade ignored them. The Brigade was the first "official" volunteer militia.

Consisting primarily of men and boys of all ages from Norway, South Paris, West Paris and Oxford, the militia men were armed and had uniforms furnished by the American Legion.

Shortly, more brigades were formed in all sections of the state "for the defense of Maine."

With World War II imminent, the national guards of all states were federalized and off to war. The governor at the time was Sumner Sewall and with many "illegal" militias erupting in spirit and patriotism, Sewall nailed two birds with one pen. He recognized the volunteer militias as auxiliary forces and officially gave them the name of "Maine State Guard Reserve."

The reserve companies were organized (under state law) at the request of town officials "or some other responsible authority" such as patriotic or veterans' organizations. But only after approval of and authority of the then state adjutant general, Col. William E. Southard of Bangor.

There were 43 units of the State Guard Reserve which blanketed the state of Maine. In addition there were literally hundreds of volunteer drill units. The men in these units dressed in catch-can uniforms with personal rifles and shotguns and a smattering of surplus army paraphernalia. With the nation's military might fighting on two foreign fronts, these militia volunteers were the sole defenders of Maine until disbanded in June of 1946.

And so it's somewhat surprising that the militia word has just been found by lexical journalism and with the connotation asterisk of anarchy. (Veteran newsmen and columnist Mike Brown writes regularly on the Augusta political scene. His views are his own and do not necessarily reflect those of The Citizen.)

THIS WEEK AT THE
Moses Mason House

All members and friends of the Bethel Historical Society are reminded that the next monthly meeting of the Society will be held on Thursday, June 1 in the meeting room of the Dr. Moses Mason House, beginning at 7:30 p.m.

As this year marks the 100th anniversary of the founding of the Bethel News, predecessor of the present Bethel Citizen, this meeting will feature a celebration of a significant community milestone. A brief history of the newspaper will be presented by John Brown, former editor of the Bethel Citizen. This will be followed by remarks from those associated with the past and present Citizen. After this portion of the program members of the Brown family, owners of The Citizen from 1927-1984, will participate in a panel discussion of their memories. As is the case with all Society meetings, this meeting is open to anyone interested in attending and helping celebrate a century of newspaper publishing in Bethel.

Maine Museum Day will be observed in Bethel on Saturday, June 10 from one to four p.m. The afternoon will be highlighted by a silver tea, tours of the museum, craft demonstrations, music, an appraisal day with antique authority Eric Johnson, and a lecture on the history of Bethel's Main Street by Society Director Stanley R. Howe. Anyone interested is cordially invited to attend.

OZONE BOOKLET

A new report has been published that summarizes what is known about how Maine's ozone air pollution affects people's health. Health studies provide convincing evidence that ozone exposures that commonly occur in Maine, and do not exceed the federal ozone standard (124 ppb), lead to reduced lung function and impaired breathing, as well as more asthma attacks, emergency room visits, hospitalizations and early deaths.

The report, "Health Effects of Ground-level Ozone in Maine," was created by the NRCM in cooperation with Dr. John Spengler and Helen Suh of the Harvard School of Public Health. For a free copy, please call or write to: Natural Resources Council, 271 State Street, Augusta, ME 04330, 1-800-287-2345.

Rollover on Route 2

BETHEL--A Franconia, N.H. woman received bumps and bruises when her car rolled over on Route 2 Tuesday afternoon. Oxford County Sheriff's Dept. deputy Tim Holland said Pauline Lydes, 70, was driving alone, traveling westbound near the Bethel transfer station, when she fell asleep at the wheel. She tried to correct the car's direction, but hit a culvert and overturned. The 1993 Ford came to rest right side up in a ditch. Holland said she was wearing a seat belt, which probably saved her from serious injury. She was treated at the scene by Bethel Rescue.

Locke Mills P.O. ramp appeal rejected

GREENWOOD--The Greenwood Appeals Board has rejected an appeal by the U.S. Postal Service that it be allowed to build a handicapped access ramp extending into the road setback in front of the village post office. The ramp plan had been rejected unanimously by the town Planning Board in October. Postal Service representative Marcia Daniels presented two alternative plans, which protruded less into the setback; but the Appeals Board ruled that it did not have the authority to approve plans that had not been submitted to the Planning Board, and that the original plan did not meet the criteria of hardship necessary to qualify for a variance.

Board OKs Bird Hill subdivision

BETHEL--The Bethel Planning Board last week unanimously approved a subdivision site plan for the Meadow on Bird Hill, on the condition that four turnouts be installed along a private road leading to the subdivision. The turnouts are intended to facilitate safe access by emergency vehicles. The subdivision is located at the end of Muriel Lane and consists of four lots -- two just over 10 acres and two over 20 acres.

Clear cutting on Shagg Pond

WOODSTOCK--Town officials are pondering what to do about clear cutting done on the Betty Buckley property on Shagg Pond. Buckley and her attorney had earlier convinced selectmen to plow a portion of the Shagg Pond Road, contending she was financially unable to have it plowed herself. But she apparently was able to afford beautification projects, and carried them out without being given permission. Town manager Vern Maxfield said last week Code Enforcement Officer Mark Stearns found a porch and deck were constructed at her home without a permit. A swath the width of the property had also been cut from her home to the edge of the pond, a distance of 90 feet. "We're in the process of suggesting that she get permits for the porch and deck. But we're not sure just yet what we're going to do with the clear cutting. We're not ruling out legal action," Maxfield said. The cutting could violate Shoreland Zoning rules.

Transportation bid opened

UPTON--An error in posting the Upton School Committee meeting last week resulted in an informal meeting being held. School Agent Ron Jenkins and one committee member showed up and opened a transportation bid, the only one received. Susan Nelson bid $13,700 to transport students for one year to Errol, N.H. Another meeting is scheduled for tonight, with action on the bid scheduled.

Barth outlines cheaper education

EUSTIS--State Rep. Al Barth of Bethel outlined his ideas for streamlining the cost and improving the quality of education. Barth spoke at the Franklin County Municipal Association meeting last week. "We can improve our students without spending a single dollar. All we have to do is raise expectations of everyone -- students, teachers, parents, and administrators," he said. Barth also suggested offering a rebate on tax forms, defining essential education services, and controlling spending on construction of new schools as means to lighten the educational tax burden. Barth is a member of the Legislature's Education Committee.

River trails, water testing downriver

RUMFORD--A local committee plans to look into developing a recreational trail along the Androscoggin River. The idea came up at a recent meeting of the Androscoggin River Basin Pollution Prevention Committee. Attorney Tom Carey asked if the group was interested in helping establish a trail from Rumford Falls Hill to the bowling lanes on Route 2 in Rumford. He said he was looking into the possibility of establishing a public land trust along that section of river. The committee is not set up for land acquisition, but is more interested in trail use. Volunteers will also be trained in sampling and testing river water. The data will be used to compare the current water quality with what it might be following efforts to prevent pollution.

Home destroyed in fire

MILTON PLANTATION--An East Milton woman and her three children lost their home in a Monday afternoon fire. Owner Annette Robichaud said the family was not at home when the fire started. Rumford fire deputy Peter Chase said the cause of the fire remains under investigation. The home was not insured. About 25 firefighters from Rumford and Rumford Point battled the blaze for more than three hours.

Banner year for ticks

MANCHESTER, N.H.--It looks like a big year for ticks, mosquitoes, and black flies, thanks to the mild winter. Ticks that carry Lyme disease are a particular worry. "People need to be concerned because the ticks are so small. Two or three of them can fit inside the (typewritten) letter 'o,' so you get the idea of just how small these things are," said Stephen Tomajczyk, spokesman for the Division of Public Health Services. He said people can reduce the tick risk by clearing low-growing brush near homes, wearing light-colored clothing (to better spot ticks), and tucking pant legs inside socks. Repellents containing DEET are effective, but parents may want to use them only on children's clothing.

Phone exchange gets extended area

MOUNT VERNON--Customers of the 293 exchange can soon opt for extended area calling plans. The Public Utilities Commission issued a waiver of its rules last week to the Community Service Telephone Co. The ruling came in response to a petition signed by 440 customers in Mount Vernon, Vienna, Chesterville, Fayette, and Rome. It asked for a calling plan "that meets the needs of the 293 exchange customers to have toll-free calling to adjacent urban centers." A staff report sent to commissioners last week said "...it is clear that the 293 exchange customers share an important community of interest with the urban areas of Augusta and Farmington...as well as...with Readfield, where Maranacook High School is located." The staff recommended that the phone company be allowed to offer the option of unlimited calling to Augusta and Farmington for $13.75 a month. An economy plan of $4.35 per month would charge a flat 50 cents per call to the cities.

Boy goes gunning for ball hog

NASHUA, N.H.--A 12-year-old boy lost an argument with a girl he claimed was hogging the ball during a pickup basketball game -- so he went home to get a shotgun to settle the problem. No shots were fired, and two teenagers grabbed the gun away from the boy. Police seized the weapon, which belonged to the boy's parents, and arrested him on charges of being a delinquent child and criminal threatening. Police did not comment on whether the boy intended to use the gun. The gun had been locked in a case in his parents' bedroom, but the boy broke into the case.

Federal land recreation to cost more?

BOZEMAN, Montana--All recreationists should pay a fee to use federal lands, and users should be checked randomly for compliance, according to a Montana State University professor. "Recreation on federal lands is a below-cost activity," said Terry Anderson. The fees would be in addition to those now charged. Fee receipts could be divided among federal agencies that provide recreation. Anderson told a Congressional subcommittee. He also recommended increased entrance fees at national parks, with the parks keeping 80 percent of the increased collections. The rest would go to support parks where collection costs would be prohibitive.

THE HEALING TOUCH--In a society so focused on the mind, Emily Eckert gets people tuned into their bodies. Eckert, a polarity energy therapist, recently joined Janet Willey as a partner at Therapeutic Massage in Bethel. Polarity therapy is based on the theory that electromagnetic energy currents flow through the body, and that stress can block that natural flow. "Polarity therapy helps to revitalize the energy flow," Eckert said. Massage is the basic tool of Eckert's therapy sessions, which generally last about one and one-half hours. Eckert said the technique is useful for people ranging from those with severe illness or injury to those who are basically healthy, but want to maintain or improve their health. "Studies have found that 80 percent of all illnesses are stress related," she said. "We try to assist people in getting to a 'relaxed place.'" She said occasionally clients get so relaxed they fall asleep during a massage. Eckert also said she and Willey work in partnership with their clients. "It's not something we do to them," she said. Eckert said while Therapeutic Massage services are geared toward area residents, they also serve visitors to the area. "Polarity therapy can also be for anyone who wants to just treat themselves or a loved one to a pleasant, relaxing experience," she said. (Photo by Allison Aloisio)

CORRECTION

P.U.C. did not rule on plastic pipe. The plastic pipe installed to service the Bethel Station railroad station and Casablanca building was taken out because it did not meet the stipulations of the Bethel Plumbing Code, not (as was reported last week) as the result of any ruling by the state Public Utilities Commission.

The communication at approximately the same time between the developers and the P.U.C. concerned the extent that service to the two buildings would be tied to construction or funding of the overall water system for the Bethel Station project.

That question is still unresolved between the developers and the water district.

From the Bethel Police log:

Racial slurs hurled at Gould students

At 11:15 p.m. on May 26 juveniles in two vehicles were reported driving up and down Church Street, yelling racial slurs at Gould Academy students. Twenty minutes later both vehicles were stopped and all parties denied involvement. Police advised that further such activities would result in charges.

Saturday, May 20

At 1:45 p.m. an East Bethel Road resident complained of a neighbor's dog barking constantly when he is not home. The situation had been going on for years, and she said she was finally fed up.

At 2:02 p.m. the owner of Preb's Pharmacy reported that during the past hour the store had received approximately 60 back-to-back obscene telephone calls.

At 7:55 p.m. a woman reported her vehicle had been struck in the windshield by a BB while she was driving south on Route 26 in Bethel. Police spoke to several people in the area, none of whom had seen anyone with a BB gun.

Sunday, May 21

At 11:01 a.m. a Bethel Park Apartments resident reported being assaulted, but the incident had taken place in Greenwood, and the information was turned over to Oxford County Sheriff's Office.

At 6:56 p.m. an employee of the Big Apple reported that a customer pumped gas into his vehicle, but on being told the store would not honor his check, the customer refused to pay cash. The identity of the customer was known and police said that if the bill was not paid by May 22 a charge of theft of services would be filed.

Thursday, May 25

At 10:30 a.m. a Bailey Road property owner reported a past tenant taking photographs of a residence. If located, the subject would be asked to stay away from the residence.

At 5:38 p.m. Bethel police responded and assisted Bethel Rescue for a 15-year-old female at Telstar having seizures.

Friday, May 26

At 12:01 a.m. police responded to a noise complaint of an idling truck in Big Bob's parking lot. The driver was informed of a truck turnout in West Bethel where he could sleep without disturbing anyone.

At 5:50 p.m. police responded to a report of a break-in at the late Edith Eypper residence off the Intervale Road. The interior of the unoccupied building had been ransacked, but it could not be determined if anything had been stolen. The door was re-secured and the present owner will be contacted.

Saturday, May 27

At 10:20 a.m. a window in the Post Office was reported broken in an apparent break-in attempt. Police were to keep very close eye on the building during the night.

Sunday, May 28

At 1:03 a.m. following a routine traffic stop, a dangerous knife and drug paraphernalia were found in the vehicle of a New Hampshire man. Daniel R. Nickerson was summonsed for operating without a license, trafficking in dangerous knives, and possessing drug paraphernalia.

This report highlights points of interest from the Bethel Police Department log, but does not include all reports of police activity.

WHAT'S IN A NAME?

The Bear River Philosopher, on her red and white farm, ponders on the origin of the family names. Here are a few taken from the local telephone book: Cook, Fish, Ham, Rice, Lamb, Pepper, Baker, Bean, Bacon, Blood, Grass, Gravel, Greenleaf, Baugh, Field, Hill, Valley, Lane, Lake, Forest, Bass, Pond, Bridges, Arbor, Brooks, Rain, Snow, Applebee, Swan, Peacock, Robin, Swallow, Fox, Starbird, Hunter, Seaman, Mason, Farmer, Merchant, Miner, Goodman, Woodman, Waterman, Armstrong, Green, Gray, Black, Red, Rose, White, Brown, Walker, Prince, King, Knight, Bishop, Church, Chaplin, Bell, Hall, Cross, Lord, Shepherd, Young, Virgin, Love, Joy, Power, Voter, Crook, Card, Couples, Strange, Frost, East, West, North, South, Adams, Eden, Barker, Best.

There is a legend about the mountain people, who had a meeting to decide on a name for the settlement. A man who used to make rye whisky, took a jug of his new batch to the Town Meeting, and passed it around. He made a motion to name the town after his new rye whisky. And the man who had the jug at the time took a swig and said, "I will drink to that," and seconded the motion.

Augusta Roll Call Report

By STEVEN STYGOS

From middle of the Maine legislature is in session, the Augusta Roll Call Report will tell of the bills passed and the legislative action taken. The Roll Call Report is intended to keep voters informed of the legislative action taken by the legislature. The Roll Call Report is intended to keep voters informed of the legislative action taken by the legislature. The Roll Call Report is intended to keep voters informed of the legislative action taken by the legislature.

SENATE

Attendance: Percentage of roll call votes for which a legislator has been present this year. (By April 25, the House had 48 roll call votes.)

Cosponsor Takings Bill: 4/11/95 vote on LD 553, sponsored by Rep. Edward Dexter (R-Kingfield). The bill would force the government to pay back when half of its highest wage earners have to pay back the state or local taxes or penalties. The bill was defeated 68-75. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Kill Bill to Eliminate Legislators' Benefits: 4/11/95 vote on LD 553, sponsored by Sen. Philip H. Harriman (R-Charleston). The bill would eliminate state paid health insurance and pensions for legislators. Legislators should not receive benefits, says Harriman, because most part time jobs do not include benefits and the money would be better spent on education and health care. Senate Minority Leader Mark Lawrence (D-Bucksport) says Harriman is "grandstanding" and that the law is not about legislators' benefits. The bill was defeated 68-75. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Label Genetically Engineered Food: 4/11/95 vote on LD 577, sponsored by Rep. Conrad Heischen (D-Windsor). The bill would require all genetically engineered food to be labeled. Labeling would include the source of the ingredients, the date and the purpose. Consumers have a right to know if food is genetically altered, Heischen says. Opponents say because labeling is not required in other states, the regulation would harm Maine producers. The bill was defeated 9-23.

Kill Bill for State Paid Medicare for Retirees: 4/11/95 vote on LD 159, sponsored by Sen. Beverly Bustin (D-Kennebec), to have the state pay for Medicare for retired state workers and teachers. State workers do not contribute to social security, so they are not eligible for Medicare unless they qualify through another job. Retired state workers and teachers who never worked elsewhere receive fully paid medical benefits from the state. Retirees who worked elsewhere receive their insurance from Medicare, but must pay for Part B. If the state paid for Part B for retirees not eligible for fully paid health benefits, Bustin argues, then all state retirees would be treated equally. Appropriations Committee chair Dana Hanley says the state cannot afford the $4.5 million to $6 million annual cost. The bill was killed 21-12. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

HOUSE

Attendance: Percentage of roll call votes for which a legislator has been present this year. (By April 25, the House had 48 roll call votes.)

Cosponsor Takings Bill: 4/11/95 vote on LD 553, sponsored by Rep. Edward Dexter (R-Kingfield). (See article above.) "Yes" means the representative is a co-sponsor.

Kill Bill to Eliminate Legislators' Benefits: 4/11/95 vote on LD 553, a bill to eliminate state paid health insurance and pensions for legislators. (See Senate item 2 above for explanation.) The bill was killed 87-51. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Kill Bill to Label Genetically Engineered Food: 4/11/95 vote on LD 577, a bill to require all genetically engineered food to be labeled. (See Senate item 3 above for explanation.) The bill was killed 100-42. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Remove Cap on Retail Credit Card Interest: 4/11/95 vote on LD 577, sponsored by Rep. Marge Kilgus (D-Windsor), to remove limits on the interest on credit cards which stores can charge on their credit cards. The limits were removed from commercial credit cards last year, so co-sponsor Arthur Mayo (R-Bath) says the change will "level the playing field" for stores. Opponent Hether Adams (D-Portland) says he heard no complaints from card holders, only from "the ones charging exorbitant interest rates." The bill passed 116-15.

Require Alarm or Phone at 24-Hour Stores: 4/11/95 vote on LD 175, sponsored by Rep. Elizabeth Townsend (D-Portland), to require 24-hour convenience stores to have either a phone or an alarm for workers. Townsend says the bill will help prevent workplace violence, particularly for women working alone at the all-night stores. Opponents question whether the bill would prevent robberies and oppose further regulation of business. The bill passed 80-61.

Kill Bill for Popular Election of Attorney General: 4/26/95 vote on LD 201, sponsored by Rep. William Lemke (D-Westbrook), to propose to voters a constitutional amendment for popular election of the state attorney general. Currently the attorney general is elected by the legislature. Lemke says "the people's attorney" should be elected by popular vote like county district attorneys. Opponents say the present system works well and worry about the expense of a statewide election campaign. The motion to kill the bill was defeated 68-75. A "yes" vote is a vote to kill the bill.

Telstar sports

Varsity Baseball

Telstar 13, Mt. Abram 1

May 24--Pitcher Clint Myers picked up his fourth win as Telstar beat Mt. Abram. Tim Hebert pitched the last two innings. Wade Luxton, Tony Buker, Ken Mason, Jason Berry, Tim Remington, and Josh Adams all contributed multiple hits and/or RBI's. Coach Bob Remington said, "Another good pitching and defensive performance. We've allowed only two runs total in our last six games."

Telstar 13, Winthrop 3

May 26--The Rebels pounded out 18 hits to raise the team batting average to .301. Josh Adams went 3 for 4, and Ken Mason, Adam Newell, and Clint Myers were all 3 for 5. The team stole four bases. Tim Remington was the winning pitcher, raising his record to 7-0, with an ERA of 0.42. "One more win will clinch at least a tie for the MVC crown," said coach Bob Remington.

Varsity Softball

Telstar 21, Mt. Abram 8

May 24--Telstar defeated Mt. Abram in an MVC matchup.

Boys' Track

May 28--At the MVC Championships in Augusta, Telstar's Todd Wing placed 2nd in the high jump, 4th in the long jump, and 6th in the triple jump. Joel Riley was 6th in the 1,600-meter race. Telstar was 8th out of 11 teams.

Girls' Track

May 28--At the MVC Championships Amy Howe placed 4th in the 800-meters and 6th in the 1,600. Dawn Waisanen was 3rd in the javelin.

NOTES FROM

Adult Education

Graduation ceremonies will be held on Tuesday, May 30, for graduates from the Adult Education program in the Telstar Region. The event will be held at the Bethel Inn Conference Center at 7:30 p.m. Graduates will receive their high school or GED diploma from SAD44 Board Chairman Merton T. Brown, Jr. The commencement speaker will be Rodney Abbott of the Telstar High School faculty.

The anticipated list of 1994-95 graduates includes Peter Farrington of Andover, Patricia Hand of Bryant Pond, John Aron of Upton, Tyrel Bartholomew of Newry, Ben McKenna of Milton, Jesse Leighton of Bethel, Travis York of Bethel, Stacy Edwards of West Bethel, Andrew Larson of Bethel, Patrick Moore of Newry, Peter Howard of Albany, Aaron Janus of Bethel, Vivi Beauchene of West Paris, Jeremiah Mills of Bethel, and Mike Tierney of Newry.

Adult Education Director Cathy Newell will coordinate the ceremony, which will feature music by Ruth Silver, and book awards to all graduates by Merrill Bittner, Lee Dolleman and Jeanette Baldridge. All former graduates and friends of Adult Education are encouraged to attend, as are family and friends of the graduates.

OUTDOORS SCHOLARSHIPS

The Maine Campground Owners Association has announced the availability of two $500 scholarships for Maine residents studying for a career in outdoor recreation. To be eligible, the student must have already completed at least one year of study in a program of outdoor recreation, must be a Maine resident, and must have a cumulative grade point average of at least 2.5 at any accredited college, university, or trade school which has an outdoor recreation program.

These new scholarships will be awarded based upon the applicants' scholastic records, employment record and extracurricular activities, and financial need.

Applications may be obtained by writing to the Maine Campground Owners Association, 655 Main Street, Lewiston, ME 04240, or by calling 782-5874.

The Maine Campground Owners Association is a nonprofit state trade association of 212 privately owned campgrounds. The association promotes camping in Maine, a $400-million industry.

IN WASHINGTON—Maine Sen. Bill Cohen met with Crescent Park School teacher Ellen Greeke of Andover in his Washington office recently to commend her for winning the 1994 Presidential Award for Excellence in Mathematics Teaching. The award recognizes one elementary teacher from each state who has demonstrated excellence in the field of teaching mathematics.

Yes, they are back with their grace and beauty. They told me in a surprising way. I was filling a feeder with seeds when a flash and a humming sound darted beneath my chin. I thought "Oh, the hummingbird is here." I hurried to get the feeder filled and out. It didn't take long before one was there enjoying it.

Just yesterday it was May Day but today May is leaving. The earth turns now with the unseen miracle of new roots pushing downward and young shoots reaching for the light and sun.

I seem to forget, from year to year, how many blossoms there are in May.

The rush is upon us. And every year it goes too swiftly. That maybe why I forget simply that I may be awed and delighted afresh each year.

The brown hills are green again. Shade thickened in our valley. Apple blossoms, lilacs, new leaves and all else, I'd describe May in one word, "dainty."

Several from here attended the graveside service for John Betts on Sunday, May 21.

The Tired Teachers met on Thursday. There were six of us who had a fun day.

The children and grandchildren of Dorothy Betts were at her home for the weekend.

East Stoneham

Carolyn Heino has been doing some work recently for Mr. Cadigan at his camp on Kezar Lake. Bob Millett and Arthur Farrer of South Paris have been putting in a flagstone walkway in Raymond.

Eric Nelson is home from college for the summer and is working for his father.

Lawrence and Mildred Dalmun from Danversville were in town on Sunday, and they put a "For Sale" sign on their house here in town.

Members of the Stoneham Knight Riders Snowmobile Club met for their annual "night out" at Shorelands in Harrison on Saturday evening. It was reported that everyone had a good time.

I was sorry to learn of the death of Harry Walker, who wrote for the Advertiser. I liked his writings. We send condolences to his family.

Albert Nelson Sr. and crew have been getting the cemeteries looking good for Memorial.

The pretty little humming birds are here. Have you seen them?

The Daughters of Union Veterans of the Civil War 1861-1865 Hannah F. Richardson Tent 19 met Wednesday, May 24, at which time they held their Memorial Service for deceased members. There were eight members and one guest present. Trudy Hammond served as senior vice president, Gail Butterfield as chaplain, and Heidi Shugars and Heather Shugars as color bearers. During the meeting, Gertrude Hammond and Eleanor Nelson were presented with fifty-year membership pins and gifts, and after the meeting the refreshments consisted of a beautiful cake decorated for the occasion.

Plans were finalized for the Memorial program for Sunday. The next meeting will be on June 28 same time, same place. This meeting will be roll call and all members are to answer roll call with a poem or favorite saying.

On June 3, the West Paris Alumni Banquet will be held at the Agnes Gray School Gymnasium. Socializing will be at 4 p.m. The catered banquet will be at 6 p.m. The business meeting will be held after the banquet. The members of the 1945, 1975 and 1995 classes will be the honored ones this year. The West Paris Historical Society Museum will be open from 3 to 5 p.m., so people may come to see the memorabilia that is on display.

It has been brought to my attention that the Girl Scouts here in town did the raking of the West Paris Library lawn. The town should be very appreciative of their endeavors. Their civic pride should be applauded.

South Woodstock

by Andrea Wipp

My grand-daughter, Jessie Hart, had the misfortune of getting hit by a motorist last Saturday. Jessie's leg was broken in two places and she had some other bruises. She's in hopes to go back to school at Telstar Middle School this coming week. Lindsey Record was also hit by the same car as they were crossing the street in South Paris and also received some bad bruises. Luckily both girls seem to be coming along okay. Jessie will have her cast on her leg for about three months. Jessie and Lindsey have received many cards, flowers and other thoughtful remembrances from friends, classmates and family.

This week a friend from way back called and wanted to come for a visit. Wallace Hussey, who we hadn't seen for about 20 years, came and spent an evening with Richard and me. Wallace lived in this area for many years, but then went in the service and now works in Maryland. Wallace is married and has four children and many grandchildren. Richard Wing took him around the area to see how it had changed. Wallace was surprised to see the old Woodstock School was no longer there and felt bad as he graduated from there. They also visited with Norman Perham and Buster Poland while looking over the town. It's always good to see old friends you haven't seen for a long time.

Elsworth Hathaway has been unfortunate to have a few accidents lately. I spoke to his wife Joyce and she said he's coming along fine and is back working at the mill. Emery Ryerson celebrated a birthday in May. Sorry I missed it. Larry Billings, Curator, Woodstock Historical Society reports that he has given the museum a book on Eleanor Roosevelt. Mr. Billings has also given a rare lamp. The Woodstock Historical Society is a significant part of the community and records Woodstock's development over the years and the importance of our area in general. Thanks to all the Historical Society members who have tried to get the museum ready for the summer.

at 7 p.m. for their last one of the season. After a two months' vacation, on Sept. 5 they will have election of officers for the 1995-96 season.

Some of the "Newry Bowling Gang" went to South Paris last week for some bowling: Karlene Bachelder, Olive Anderson, Louise Tedley, Bea Lowell, Doris Parent and Irene Hadfield. I didn't go, neither did Betty Clark. On the overall scores, Karlene was high on both the triples and singles. Of the "Righties," Louise was high on the singles but Doris was high on the triples. Karlene had four spares, Doris had five spares, Olive and Louise each had two spares, and Bea had one spare. Irene didn't bowl; she went for the ride.

Karlene Bachelder was a guest at the Chamber of Commerce banquet at the Legend Restaurant at the Summit Hotel, Newry, last Saturday night, May 20, courtesy of Mother's Restaurant owner.

In memory of those who died so that we could live... "The next dreadful thing to a battle lost is a battle won. That awful pause, dividing life from death struck for an instant on the hearts of men, thousands of whom were drawing their last breath! A moment all will be life again... One moment more, the death-cry drowning in the battle's roar! May we never forget them. Amen."

The Newry Church Ladies Circle met May 30, 12:30 p.m. at Sylvia Wright's residence.

I make a conscious effort not to be superstitious. My grandmother tended to be as I was growing up, and with the disdain of the superior wisdom of youth I thought, "How foolish," sometimes, however, it is rather hard to ignore the old adages when they keep happening. Such was the day on Wednesday. The phrases, "It never rains but it pours," and "Things always come in threes," come to mind, not for the first time since I dispatch for Tri-Town. I had an appointment in Norway at 2 p.m. and got there shortly after that terrible accident by the park in South Paris. It is rather disconcerting to come into a town only to meet more police than you knew existed in the area and a bevy of fire trucks. As I threaded my way through scores of onlookers and was waved onto a detour, I couldn't imagine what was going on, but I was already late so didn't stop to find out. Actually, I could have, as some of the doctors in the Medicine Group were at the hospital as part of the trauma team, but I didn't know that then. I was surprised to find my sister-in-law, Marolyn Mills, there in the waiting room. She said she was on her lunch hour and had brought her father, Phil Daye, in for a checkup and she'd been there for some time. She was still there when I returned to the waiting room after seeing Dr. Kumaki. We couldn't imagine what had happened and no one seemed to know, but as I sat there and talked with her another old friend, Nancy Cummings, came in and told us about the accident. After leaving there I went to a store in Oxford, and on my way back there is a car along the side of the road with a smashed side fender and a police car by it. As I continued on I heard the familiar whoop of another police car, pulled over and a Mechanic Falls police car goes by. So I wasn't terribly surprised to get to the light by the high school and see police, an ambulance and a car with a completely smashed rear end. By now I am getting the idea that Norway is not a particularly good place to be on this extraordinary afternoon. Route 26 was still cordoned off, so I headed over High Street and out, only to meet another police car near West Paris stopped in my lane while the driver talked with another driver in a car in the other lane. There was nothing I could do but wait while they concluded their business. At least there was no apparent accident there, the three adage having been fulfilled already, but I was thankful when I got safely into my driveway as another adage came to mind, "Be it ever so humble there is no place like home."

My apologies to Jeannette Knight that I did not get her news in last week. I've had a busy couple of weeks so hadn't got any news up. I do want to congratulate her and Charlie on the occasion of their 40th wedding anniversary, as you will see by the next item.

Your correspondent was pleased to have a visit with Debbie Cantelo, as she stopped by one day last week. It had been some time since I'd seen her. She said Jessica will be in her senior year in the fall. Mercy, how time flies!

In other news from the Knights -- Charlie and Jeannette spent Mother's Day with their daughter, Marianne Gammon and family in East Waterford. They also recently visited her brother, Walter Sylvester; Charlie's sister in Mt. View nursing home in Franklin, N.H.; her son, Herbert Hatfield in Northfield, N.H.; and the George Knight family in Sanford.

The town was saddened to hear of the death of Heywood Sawyer Sr. last week and offers its sincerest sympathy to members of his family. His broad smile and cheery "hello" will be much missed around the town.

Lorraine Mills visited with Debbie Goff in Rumford recently and admired Bill's handiwork on a truck he had just purchased. I also spent some time with Linda Ruffin, as we tried out our talents on cleaning the church.

Howdy, folks.
This is the 23rd day of May and a beautiful morning to give you the highlights of our last week's activities.

On Sunday, May 14, Peggy and I joined Myrna and Bernard White for a trip to Rangeley to see a camp that the Emerson Merrill family have bought and are fixing up to rent. We took a picnic lunch and stopped in a church yard to eat it before we got to Rangeley. We were lucky to see five moose along the way.

Peggy and I attended Children's Night and Open House at Franklin Grange on the 15th. It rained quite hard, but the school children and their parents turned out in numbers just the same. The Grange lecturer had prepared a nice program which involved the children, and I think a good time was had by all that attended.

After going for a doctor's appointment in the afternoon on Tuesday, Peggy and I attended C.W.A. Night at Mountain Grange in North Buckfield. A real nice supper preceded the meeting. This was the night for the ladies to fill the offices and most of them were filled by visiting Grangers. Peggy filled in as assistant steward and I just sat on the sidelines. Roberta Raimey from Mount Sugarloaf Grange in Dixfield served as master for the evening. I won a box of macaroni and a flower pot of iris to set out in my garden.

We hosted a family get-together at our mobile home on May 17. Guests at the dinner table included Myrna and Bernard White from Auburn, Bryce and Barbara Yates from Sunday River, Laura Hutchins from East Andover, Lawrence and Grace Yates from next door, also Peggy and myself.

Thursday evening was inspection at West Paris Grange, and the deputies, Lewis and Myrtle Bisbee from Mechanic Falls, were present to do their part. Other visitors were present from Mount Sugarloaf Grange in Dixfield. In addition to the inspection, the lecturer had a Memorial Service as part of the program. We are also members of West Paris Grange, so we were there to fill our offices.

There will be a dance at the West Paris Grange Hall on June 3, with music by the Richard Felt Orchestra. This year, the Woodstock High School Alumni Banquet will be held at the Jackson Silver American Legion Hall on the Gore Road in Locke Mills at 6 p.m. on June 3 and not at Telstar High School, as in past years.

Oxford Pomona Grange No. 2 will meet at Alder River Grange Hall in East Bethel on June 6, with a 6:30 supper and 7:30 meeting, including election of officers. I hope all Pomona members will be present to defend themselves, or hopefully to seek an office.

school committee was unable to take action on the bid for transportation at their meeting last Thursday. The one bid received was opened and action will be taken at their next meeting scheduled for May 31 at 3 p.m.

The Craft Swap was oodles of fun even though very few attended to enjoy it.

The Frank Poolers' spent a few days at their camp.

Robert Dapalito has resigned from the planning board leaving a vacancy.

Albert and Thelma Judkins of West Peru; Fred Judkins and Marion York of Norway and Berniece Swan of Bryant Pond visited the cemetery last Thursday. Fred and Albert attended the stones of their family members. Berniece found the burial site of her long time friend, Bertha Lombard. Albert returned a broken stone he'd gotten from the Backstreet Cemetery of John Richardson. Since the stone could not be repaired he had a frame made to hold the two parts together and erect.

Margaret Mitchell and Arline Bernier joined the Judkins' and friends group on a trip to Errol, N.H. for lunch and visiting.

North Woodstock

Billings received their new couch this past weekend. It is very nice and, because it is similar to a bed, has proven to be very comfortable for them. The Silver family has a brand new garage.

Tammy Billings received a phone call from her brother Jeff last week.

Because there is so little news this week, I thought I would take the time to share a few personal thoughts. In two weeks, I will graduate from high school. Because I am approaching such an important date in my life, I have been doing a lot of thinking lately. Never before have I realized just how quickly the time flies. Photo albums, diaries, and various other remnants of the past have reminded me that life goes by at an extraordinary pace. Each one of us who graduates next month is embarking on a long, productive journey. I know that sounds trite and overused, but it is very true. Hopefully, everyone will remember that life is short and that every moment counts.

That's it from North Woodstock!

Helping aging parents
In order to help your aging parents or relatives, it is important to know their concerns. Do you tend to have an accurate understanding of their needs, hopes, and fears? Do you know what is most important to them, or do you underestimate or exaggerate their concerns? Some adult children project their own concerns onto their parent or relative, imagining that they worry about, think about, or need the same things that you do. This misperception may render any sort of help useless.

In researching the book, "Helping Your Aging Parents," author James Halpern, Ph.D., distributed several hundred questionnaires to men and women over the age of 65. The purpose was to gather information about the respondents' needs so that adult children could better understand and perhaps assist aging parents.

Elderly parents were also requested to give a similar questionnaire to an adult child. The child was asked to examine the same set of concerns and to indicate how important each concern was for his or her parent.

The results of this investigation showed that, in fact, adult children have a fairly accurate understanding of their parents' concerns.

The following is the rank order of concerns expressed by the elderly parents in the sample. (Where the same rank order is shown, the sample ranked the items equally).

1. Emotional (feeling lonely, in control, needed, etc.)
2. Health
3. Transportation
4. Bureaucratic mediation (dealing with government agencies, etc.)
5. Social
6. Domestic chores
7. Finances

Adult children perceived their parents' needs according to the following rank order.

1. Emotional
2. Health
3. Domestic chores
4. Transportation
5. Bureaucratic Mediation
6. Finances
7. Social

HEALTHY LIVING

Antioxidants Could Be Key to Healthy Hearts

(NH) - The next time someone urges you to get plenty of vitamin E, take the advice to heart. A new study shows that vitamin E may help slow the progression of atherosclerosis, the main cause of heart disease.

In atherosclerosis, a fatty buildup known as plaque clogs the arteries, often leading to a heart attack or stroke. But in the study at the University of Southern California School of Medicine, patients who took vitamin E supplements along with their cholesterol-lowering drugs showed a reduction in the progression of plaque.

Another study by the National Institute on Aging indicates that taking both vitamins E and C reduces the risk of heart attack by more than half in older adults.

Experts say your heart will be healthier and happier if you stop smoking, eat a diet low in fat, exercise, and take a healthy dose of antioxidants.

Everyone should eat three servings of fruits and two servings of vegetables daily, says Aron Dorn, nutrition and branch director for Kaiser Health Products Inc., the world's largest vitamin manufacturer. But if you're not getting enough antioxidants from food, supplements may be a good idea.

While research shows that while taking E improves the oxidation of

A healthy heart loves vitamins; give yours the care it needs.

LDL (bad cholesterol), other vitamins like beta-carotene, prevent the uptake of LDL into the walls of the coronary arteries.

But if you're at risk of heart disease, you may need to do more than nibble at a carrot and a piece of fruit. The University of Southern California study shows that heart patients need more than 100 international units, or IU, of vitamin E daily for it to be effective. That's a lot more than you can consume in your diet.

So talk with your doctor about nutritional supplements. If the latest studies are any indication, your heart will love you for it.

For more information about antioxidants, call Lerner's Your Life Vitamin Hotline at 1-800-833-VITA. The hotline operates from 9 a.m. to 5 p.m. PST, Monday through Friday.

The Effects of Touch

by: Janet Willie, Certified Massage Therapist

Each day in my office I continue to see profound effects that touch can have on the human body. It is of natural instinct to comfort a stressed child by holding them or giving attention to the hurt.

Why is it that we assume a stressed adult needs a medicine versus a hug. Touch is one of the more profound medicines among today's shelves of chemical alternatives.

Today you will find people seeking a variety of Eastern based exercise classes and alternative health care. I believe the essential ingredient these approaches offer to us is a sense of touch, be it physical or be it spiritual.

Dean Juhan, author of Job's Body and Master Trager Practitioner (Trager is a form of bodywork using gentle rocking to help disengage uncomfortable neuromuscular patterns which have set into our body) quotes:

"Without adequate tactile input the human organism will die. Touch is... as vital to our existence as food, water, and breath."

Help Your Heart Recipes

This recipe is intended to be part of an overall healthful eating plan. Total fat intake should be less than 30 percent of your total calories for a day — not for each food or recipe.

Salsa Cruda

- | | |
|--|--|
| 1 large ripe tomato, cored, peeled, seeded and diced | 1 to 2 teaspoons fresh lime juice |
| 2 tablespoons finely chopped onion | 1/2 teaspoon salt |
| 1 teaspoon fresh jalapeno pepper (approximately small seeded pepper) | 1 teaspoon finely chopped fresh cilantro |

Combine all ingredients in a medium bowl. Stir to mix well. Cover and refrigerate.

This sauce may be used as a dip for tortilla chips. (For a large group simply double or triple quantities listed.) It is also used as a topping for Mexican dishes, such as beef tostadas. Serves 12; 1 tablespoon per serving.

Take Charge of Your Health Care Costs

News USA

(NH) - From Congress to consumers, everyone is concerned about health care costs. The nation's annual medical bill is approaching $1 trillion and climbing.

"In 1993, Americans spent $3,299 per person on medical care," says Dr. Edward J. Smith, vice president of medical management for CIGNA HealthCare Inc., one of the nation's largest operators of health maintenance organizations. "For a family of four, that's more than $13,000."

Can families still get quality medical care without breaking their budgets?

"Absolutely," assures Smith. "While health care is clearly a major expense, there are many ways a family can control costs without sacrificing quality of care."

To help families get the most from their healthcare dollars, Smith offers these tips:

• Consider outpatient services. Many procedures can be performed on an outpatient basis. Ask your physician if your test or surgery can be done this way.

• Use generic prescription drugs. Generic drugs have the same active ingredients as brand-name drugs and can save consumers 30 to 70 percent, depending on the prescription.

• Know the treatment alternatives. Ask your physician about less-invasive treatment options. For example, before resorting to coronary bypass surgery, your doctor may consider balloon angioplasty or drug therapy.

• Make prevention a priority. Don't put off preventive procedures, such as prenatal visits, immunizations, mammograms, prostate exams, vision care and colon cancer screenings. Spot problems early, and avoid more serious illness.

• Join a health maintenance organization. HMOs offer comprehensive, preventive and integrated care to members. In an HMO, you choose a primary care physician who coordinates care with specialists, hospitals and other providers. Fixed monthly premiums are usually lower than traditional fee-for-service plans. And instead of paying a minimum deductible, HMO members may pay only $5 or $10 per office visit or prescription. About 60 percent of all physicians now contract with at least one HMO.

Financial and benefits experts also advise families to:

• Coordinate coverages. If you and your spouse both work and get medical benefits, avoid duplicate coverage. Compare plans and pick the best parts from each.

• Take advantage of tax allowances. The Internal Revenue Service allows taxpayers to deduct out-of-pocket medical costs (those not covered by insurance) that exceed 7.5 percent of adjusted gross income. If possible, lump expenses into a single year to reduce taxable income.

• Consider a flexible spending account. FSAs allow you to set aside pretax dollars through payroll deduction to pay eligible health care expenses. The money is deducted from your salary before any federal, Social Security, state or local taxes are taken out. You may set aside from $100 to $2,000 for medical expenses this way. But be conservative: You lose any money you fail to spend by the end of the year.

• Choose a higher deductible. If your health is good but you are unable to join an HMO, consider a higher deductible for your traditional health insurance plan. You'll save on premiums, although you risk higher payments for unexpected medical expenses. If you have young children who need care often, choose the lowest deductible you can afford.

The final words of advice from Smith: Stay healthy. The best health care cost-control program is prevention. Don't smoke or abuse drugs and alcohol. Get plenty of exercise, eat low-fat foods and wear your seat belt.

"By taking good care of yourself, you can do more for your health than your doctor can," Smith advises. "Follow these tips to enjoy a healthier life, spend less money on health care and contribute to reducing our nation's medical care costs."

ROSS SWAIN CUTS CD—Musician Ross Swain of Roxbury Pond, a Telstar 1973 graduate, recently returned from a recording session in Ravenna, Ohio where his debut release, "ragTime on My Hands", was cut from the studio of close friend, George Faddoul. The session focused on Swain's renditions of the piano rags of the late composer Scott Joplin. Joplin is best known for "The Entertainer," remembered by many as the theme song of the hit movie "The Sting." "ragTime on My Hands" will be available on CD and cassette in early July. Those wishing to hear a sneak preview of this collection can stop by The Coffee House, 198 Linnell Street in Rumford on June 10 when Swain will be the featured performer from 7 to 9 p.m. Admission is just $3, and coffee and desserts will be available. Anyone interested in ordering "ragTime on My Hands," or wanting information about The Coffee House, can call Swain at 207-545-2413.

WETLANDS PAYMENTS

In Maine, the Wetlands Reserve Program (WRP), which is a voluntary program offering landowners a chance to receive payment and possible tax breaks for restoring and protecting wetlands on their property, will be accepting applications from May 30 to June 30.

WRP obtains conservation easements from participating landowners and provides cost-share payments for wetlands restoration. Through this program, the U.S. Department of Agriculture (USDA) plans to restore and protect our most valuable wetlands acreage.

The USDA is also buying some permanent easements at local land values and paying 75 percent of the cost of restoring hydrology and habitat. Landowners may also qualify to have the other 25 percent paid by an interested conservation group.

Wetlands owners interested in applying for the WRP or learning more may contact the county office of the Natural Resources Conservation Service (formerly the Soil Conservation Service) or the USDA.

Local pollution group to hold Androscoggin clean-up trip

Bethel's Androscoggin Watershed Pollution Prevention team will hold a "river awareness and clean-up trip" on Saturday morning, June 10.

The public is encouraged to participate. The plan is to visit and clean up as necessary the eight Androscoggin River canoe access sites from the Shelbourne, N.H. dam to the Bear River, plus the Androscoggin River Walking Trail from the River View Motel to the Riverside State Rest Area.

Along the water there will be time for wildlife observation, and everyone is urged to bring a picnic lunch to eat at noon at the Riverside State Rest Area.

Plans so far involve one group who will start at the River View Motel at 10 a.m. and walk the river trail to the state rest area; one group who will meet (time not yet set) at New's Landing in West Bethel and canoe to Davis Park and the state rest area; and another group who will go by car to the other canoe access sites and then to the state rest area for lunch. Maps showing the various canoe access sites are available at Bethel Outdoor Adventures (visitor center) in West Bethel.

Work gloves, pruning shears, and long sleeves are suggested for people interested in cleaning up the Androscoggin River Walking Trail — and are a good idea for everyone. Trash bags will be provided. Please contact Walter Hatch at 824-3560 for further details.

ARTS FAIR SEEKS ARTISANS

The Lovell Arts and Artisans Fair will be held this year on Saturday, Aug. 19. This all juried fair is now in its 20th season. While many artisans make annual appearances (i.e. Ken Kantro, pewter and silversmith; Nancy Lovell, basket maker; Juanita Perkins, photographer), fair organizers are always looking for new artists and craftspeople.

Jurying for this year's fair will be held Tuesday, June 6, at the Charlotte Hobbs Memorial Library on Route 5 in Lovell. Samples of items to be sold at the fair should be submitted by 9 a.m. on June 6, but may be dropped off before that time. The Arts and Artisans Fair is the major annual fund raiser of the Charlotte Hobbs Library. Participating artisans will donate 15 percent of their day's profit to the library.

For more information on the fair and jurying process, please contact Irene Zeller at 925-3393.

BASKETBALL CLINIC OFFERED AT TELSTAR

The Westbrook College basketball staff will offer a co-ed clinic at Telstar High School June 19-23.

The clinic is for students in grades three through seven. Emphasis will be on skill development, shooting, passing-dribbling, defense, team play, and attitude and motivation.

Coaches include Jim Graffam, Michael Johnson, Bruce Bowers, and John Tolan.

The cost is $75, and must be paid by June 1. For more information call Mark Thurlow at 674-3698.

ULTIMATE FRISBEE BEGINS

Bethel's informal ultimate frisbee game begins play on Thursday, June 1. Games are played on Tuesdays and Thursdays at 6 p.m. on Gould Academy's lower fields. All are welcome to play.

AMERICAN LEGION BASEBALL IN LOCKE MILLS

American Legion Baseball Zone 3, Locke Mills Mountaineers will begin their season Thursday, June 15, by traveling to Turner, with their home opener Saturday, June 17, against Northern Oxford on the Gould Academy field.

Players interested in joining the Locke Mills Legion team should contact Les Otten at 824-3000 or 875-2703, or Earl Tyler at 824-3785.

This year's season includes a 24-game schedule against teams within a 50-mile radius of Bethel. Anyone between the ages of 15 and 18, as long as their birth date is before Aug. 1, is eligible to play. This year's returning coaches will be Otten and Charlie Newell, with Kurt Wilson assisting.

Ask a lawyer --

I have charges pending for being a habitual motor vehicle offender and I am currently serving a one-year sentence for a different offense. I would like to know if I can ask for and receive a court appointed lawyer for the motor vehicle offense while I am serving this term, or do I have to wait until I'm out of jail to begin to work on that case?

You should immediately request counsel and you should also request a speedy trial. It makes no sense to wait for the completion of your present sentence to deal with the motor vehicle charge. Indeed, in certain instances, the habitual motor vehicle charge may require a jail term. You are in a better position to negotiate a concurrent term than you will be after you complete the sentence you are presently serving.

All in all, it serves no purpose to await the completion of your present sentence.

"Ask a Lawyer" is published in cooperation with this paper and the Maine State Bar Association. The views expressed in this column are those of the author. Lawyers answer questions on subjects of general interest. The column is meant as general information and should not be relied upon for advice in a specific case. For individual advice, consult your own attorney. If you do not have an attorney and believe you need legal advice, contact the Maine Lawyer Referral and Information Service at 622-1460. This month's question was answered by Leonard I. Sharon, Esquire, of Laskoff & Sharon, Lewiston. If you have a question on a legal matter, please submit it in writing to "Ask a Lawyer" c/o The Maine State Bar Association, P.O. Box 788, Augusta, ME 04332-0788.

CRYSTAL CHASE

Crystal Chase, daughter of John and Leatrice Chase of Locke Mills, graduated May 20 from Stratham N.H.T.C. with an associates degree in surgical technology.

She is employed at Stephens Memorial Hospital, Norway.

STEPHANIE EMERY HONORED AT GRADUATION

Stephanie Emery of West Paris received the Sigma Alpha Iota Foundation College Honor Award during State University of New York College at Potsdam's Honors Convocation earlier this month.

The award -- for a student in The Crane School of Music -- is based on musicianship, scholastic attainment and contribution to the college's chapter of Sigma Alpha Iota music fraternity.

Emery graduated magna cum laude on May 7 with a bachelor of music degree in music education.

SUNY Potsdam is a four-year liberal arts college of about 4,300 students in New York's St. Lawrence County, one of SUNY's 64 campuses. The Crane School of Music is one of its schools.

HART HONORED

Victor Hart of Bethel has been selected as a member of Tau Beta Pi, national engineering honor society, according to an announcement by officers of that organization at Worcester Polytechnic Institute. Tau Beta Pi represents the highest honor obtained by an engineering student. Membership is awarded on the basis of high scholarship and demonstrated exemplary character. Victor is a student of electrical engineering and is completing his junior year.

BRIDGE CLUB FINALE

The Cynthia Mason Round Robin Bridge Club held its Spring Finale earlier this month at the Town and Country Motor Inn.

Prizes were awarded in several categories. The players who had accumulated the most points for this session were: first, Rich Grover; second, Elaine Dresser; third, Lee Barth; fourth, Carolyn Brooks; fifth, Gail Schatzle; sixth, Wende Gray; seventh, Verna Thayer; eighth, Wilder Kimball; ninth, Mary Lyon; tenth, Dana Douglass.

The individual high score for this session went to Mary Lou Grover, with 6,730 points and the individual low score to David Williams for something less.

Prizes were awarded for the top two scores of the finale, as well, with Wilder Kimball scoring second with 4,840 points and Elaine Dresser in first place with 5,960 points.

A special plaque was presented to Pearl McMillin. The plaque was awarded "in loving recognition of years of service to the Cynthia Mason Round Robin Bridge Club." Pearl has kept track of scores and bookkeeping for the club for over 15 years.

Bethel Lions Club

by DAWN THORNTON-LUTY

In 1925, Helen Keller urged all Americans to become "Knights of the Blind," and Lions Club International responded with a vengeance.

Maine is home to 100 Lions Clubs with a membership of 11,000. May 5 to 7, Sunday River Ski Resort hosted around 250 Lions from a multi-district meeting (District 41L under the direction of Gov. Marty Gavin and District 41I under the direction of Gov. Ken Thompson Jr.) at the Summit Hotel. Speaking with Lou Small, treasurer of Maine Sight and Hearing, I had inquired about the organization. "Lions prefer to serve, than to be served," responded Small. "It's about people helping people."

Lions International have a motto,

"We serve" and that is quite evident in the activities of the clubs. In the past year Maine Lions have contributed over $17,000 in grants to such organizations as Maine Division of the New England Eye Bank, Low Vision Committee, Cued Speech Association of Maine, Mid-Maine Medical Center, Maine's Center for the Blind Visually Impaired, Maine's Prevention of Blindness Programs, Inc. and Voices for Blind, right here at home in Bethel.

Last year donations were down by 20 percent. Now more than ever it is important to help support this organization. With government cutbacks in programs that offer similar services, the need is higher now than ever before.

Military notes:

LT. CARR DEPARTS

Navy Lt. Alexander E. Carr, son of Cherie A. Davis of Hanover, recently departed for a six-month overseas deployment with Carrier Airborne Early Warning Squadron 117 (VAW-117), embarked aboard the aircraft carrier USS Abraham Lincoln.

SEAN GILSON AT GITMO

Marine Pfc. Sean M. Gilson, son of Randy W. and Kathy E. Eastman of Bryant Pond, recently reported for duty at Marine Barracks, Guantanamo Bay, Cuba.

The 1994 graduate of Telstar Regional High School of Bethel joined the Marine Corps in August 1994.

LEIGHTON FINISHES BASIC

Marine Pvt. Toby J. Leighton, son of Alfred T. Leighton of Gilead and Diane Leighton of Bethel, recently completed the 11 weeks of intensive training required to earn the title "Marine."

During the training conducted at Marine Corps Recruit Depot, Parris Island, S.C., Leighton completed a variety of challenging training evolutions designed to improve physical and mental strength.

He is a 1993 graduate of Telstar Regional High School.

CRAIG WATERMAN ENLISTS

Craig E. Waterman has joined the United States Army under the Delayed Enlistment Program. The Delayed Enlistment Program gives young men and women the opportunity to delay enlistment into the Army for up to one year so they can finish their studies before reporting to basic military training.

Waterman, a senior at Buckfield High School, will report to Fort Benning, Columbus, Ga. in August 1995 to begin military basic training.

He is the son of Duane and Darleen Waterman of 165 Sumner Rd., West Paris.

Mundt-Allen Post #81

By DAWN THORNTON-LUTY

Let me begin by apologizing to our membership for not getting last month's column in. This was poor preparation on my part and in no way a reflection on the paper.

A new year is beginning at our post! Membership is on an uphill climb and looking like that will remain strong. On May 10, the New Year Installation was held for both Legion and Auxiliary members alike. The evening began with a delicious potluck dinner enjoyed by all present, followed by the installation of this year's officers.

Pappy Days are right around the corner. This year's Pappy Girl is Chea Davis, daughter of Vernon and Tamara Davis of Bethel. Chea is 7 years old and enrolled in first grade at Crescent Park School. Extra special thanks are extended to Mona Lowe, who has been assisting the poppies in "blooming" for many years now. Her time and efforts are sincerely appreciated.

Plans are in the works for this year's Memorial Day activities. A good turnout reflects positively upon our Post. Anyone interested should talk to Brian Strickland. Chaplain Sylvia Clanton will deliver the invocation, speakers will be Norman Clanton, Richard Grover, and Delma McMillin, with Thoughts and Remembrances by Jane Lowe and James Luty.

Men's News: Newly elected Post officers are as follows: Frank Gibson, post commander; Jerry Greenwell, 1st vice; Richard Grover, 2nd vice; Brian Strickland, adjutant; John Head, finance officer; Sylvia Clanton, chaplain; James Luty, historian; Joe Taylor, service officer; Jody Goodreau, sergeant at arms; Carolyn Brooks, Americanism officer.

Ladies' News: Newly elected officers of the Auxiliary are as follows: Arlene Bean, president; Dona Taylor, 1st vice; Jane Strickland, 2nd vice; Mona Lowe, secretary/treasurer; Pauline Wieden, chaplain; Dawn Thornton-Luty, historian; Wanda Buswell, sergeant at arms; Abby Buswell, Jr. past president.

Special thanks to all of the outgoing officers for a year of true dedication to their duties. These people and their contributions will always be a part of what makes Mundt-Allen Post #81 the success it is today. To all of our newly elected officers, we wish you a year of success, filled with enjoyment of your chosen duties.

The next meeting will be held on June 13 with a potluck dinner. See you there!

Jackson-Silver Post #68

Members of Jackson-Silver American Legion Post and Auxiliary were looking forward to another successful year as they had their officers installed on May 4. It will be hard to surpass the past year as the unit had one of its members, Leah Deegan, chosen as Maine's Unit member of the year, and the post was chosen to host the national commander when he visited Maine in November.

The Auxiliary celebrated 75 years of existence and this unit has one of the few 75 year members in the area. In the past year post members built an addition to the kitchen and it has been equipped, and other improvements have been made to the building and grounds. What does the new year hold?

Jeri Greenwell installed Auxiliary officers with the assistance of her mother, Carolyn Brooks as marshal and Fannie Cummings (75 year member) as chaplain. Heading the new slate of officers is Martha Stowell as president. Others are first vice president, Leah Deegan; second vice president, Evanna Davis; secretary, Olive Risko; treasurer, Vera Cross; chaplain, Bertha Walker; historian, Noreen Russo; sergeant at arms, Sylvia Dunham.

The post officers were installed by Ed Roach, assisted by Lester Prue and Leland Merchant. Earl Tyler is again the post commander and the other officers are first vice commander, Roland Lord; second vice commander, Delma McMillin; adjutant, Dan Davis; finance officer, Richard Cross; chaplain, Rodney Hanscom, sergeant at arms, Raymond Tripp Jr.; service officer, Nick Clements; historian, Dan Davis; Americanism officer, Roland Lord.

This year the unit has two junior members graduating from Telstar, Angela Lowejoy and Koral Smith and they will soon become senior members. Angela's mother, Tyrene, will also be a new graduate -- from college. Congratulations to all.

The supper and dance on May 9 to benefit Noreen Russo was a success. The Auxiliary wishes to thank the many people who supported us with their presence or sent donations and Basil Seguin and Maine Line Products for door prizes.

The New Locke Mountain Townhouses

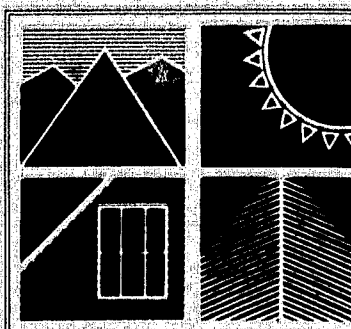

Trail Elevation

Slopeside ♦ Quality Construction ♦ Panoramic Views

Ski to your door in the afternoon. Stoke up the fire -- and relax. Watch the sun set over the spectacular Mahoosuc mountain range... from the livingroom of your new Locke Mountain Townhouse.

It's more than a slopeside condo--it's a true four-season second home. Superior construction. The utmost in convenience and privacy. You'll enjoy the fully-equipped kitchen... the cathedral ceilings... the large master bedroom... the plush wall-to-wall carpeting... the tasteful and comfortable design.

Select from two spacious floor plans. In the 1800 square-foot configuration, you'll enjoy three large bedrooms, a loft, a daylight basement and the luxury of three full baths.

In the 1660 square-foot configuration, you'll relax with three full bedrooms and two and a half baths.

Each winter, you'll step out the door and into your skis. In the summer, you can hike, mountain bike, fish, golf and explore the cool green mountains. Locke Mountain Townhouses offer you four-season recreational opportunities. All this comfort, all this convenience is available now... at remarkably attractive prices. Compare--you won't find better value in slopeside second homes ANYWHERE in snow country.

Call Sunday River Realty today at (207) 824-3000 ext. 333, and learn how you can enjoy the best of Maine's Western Mountains... four wonderful seasons a year.

THOUGHTS FROM THE Pastor's Study

The Bethel Area Clergy Association, with the help of pastors of surrounding churches, brings you these meditations. Not based on any set theme, they will be individual for each pastor. It is hoped you will find in these words comfort and hope for your daily life.

In the 13th chapter of the Gospel of Luke there is the recording of a wonder-filled story. It begins with verse 10 and tells of Jesus and a woman "bent over," crippled for 18 years. And, they somehow, some way, come to the synagogue at the same time, the same day. Furthermore, this miraculous account tells of Jesus seeing the woman, calling the woman, and laying hands upon her. And, behold, she stood up straight!

I wonder if there are times in life when one or two or more of us are "bent over"...perhaps, while not physically "bent over," weighed down, so to say, in one way or another.

If there ever are these times, these verses in Luke could remind us that God's embracing love and Jesus' inclusive grace is present for us in many healing ways. And, then, once more the words in Luke become alive.

"She stood up straight and began praising God." Luke 13:13

Obituaries

ARIANA C. SYLVESTER

Ariana Chea Sylvester, 12 months, passed on Thursday, May 25, 1995, at a Portland hospital following a car accident in South Paris.

Born at Norway, the daughter of John A. Sylvester and Linda M. Duchesneau, she donated her organs to help other precious angels.

Survivors include her father of Andover; her mother of Norway; maternal grandparents, Lloyd and Carolyn Bailey of Yarmouth; paternal grandparents, Walter and Myrtle Sylvester of Hanover and Beverly L. Sylvester of Andover; two sisters, Michelle Duchesneau of South Paris and Melissa Duchesneau of Norway; two half-sisters, Julie Sylvester of Rumford and Tina Sylvester of Lewiston; and one brother, Joseph Duchesneau of Norway.

A celebration of her life was held Wednesday, May 28, at Lindquist Funeral Home, Yarmouth. If so desired, memorial contributions may be made to the Children's Miracle Network at Maine Medical Center, 22 Bramhall Street, Portland, ME 04102.

Delbert L. Fitzherbert, 76, of West Paris, died Thursday morning, May 25, 1995, at his home.

He was born in Fort Fairfield on April 13, 1919, son of Boardman and Helen Ladd Fitzherbert. He attended school in Fort Fairfield and had been a supervisor at a lumber mill. He also worked at Wilner Wood Products Co. He was a member of Floyd-Harlow VFW Post 9787 in South Paris. He had his private pilot's license and was a registered Maine guide who enjoyed the outdoors, hunting and camping. He served in the U.S. Army during World War II and received a silver star and the victory medal. He married Marilyn Eaton on Dec. 27, 1955.

Survivors include his wife of West Paris; a daughter, Sharon Hall of Dresden; two stepdaughters, Sandra Eldridge of Casco and Rhonda Cassar of Sebago; two stepsons, Gary and Jim Cassar of West Paris; one sister, Louise Glover of Rumford; two brothers, Leonard of Lewiston and Basil of Livermore; six grandchildren.

Mr. Fitzherbert was predeceased by three brothers, Murray, James and Harold.

Family and friends may attend graveside services Thursday, June 1 at 1 p.m. at Gracelawn Memorial Park, Auburn. In lieu of flowers, those who wish may contribute in his memory to the American Cancer Society, 52 Federal Street, Brunswick, ME 04011.

H. RUSSELL BENNETT

H. Russell Bennett, 73, died Sunday, May 28, 1995, at Veterans Hospital, Togus, where he had been a patient since August of 1994. He had resided in South Rumford and had lived in the area for many years.

He was born in Colebrook, N.H., Oct. 14, 1921, son of Leon and Gertrude (Allinson) Bennett. During World War II, he served overseas from 1942 to 1945 as a U.S. Navy motor machinist mate first class aboard LST 177.

He had attended schools in Wilsons Mills and graduated from Gould Academy in 1939 and attended Vesper George School of Art in Boston. He graduated from Carnegie Mellon University in Pittsburgh, Pa., in 1954 with a degree in industrial design. For over 39 years he was employed by the Maine Department of Transportation until retirement in 1988.

He was a life member of Sigma Alpha-Epsilon Fraternity of Carnegie Mellon University, and a 25-year member of the Maine State Retirement System. He was married in Rumford on July 15, 1961 to Dorothy Rideout.

He is survived by his wife of South Rumford; one son and daughter-in-law, Steven and Pam Bennett of Rumford; one daughter and son-in-law, Wendy and Wesley Sweet of Milan, N.H.; one sister, Mrs. Ernest (Louise Millicent) Hey of Rockport; one grandson and four granddaughters. He was predeceased by two brothers, Gordon and Sherman.

Funeral services will be held Wednesday, May 31, 11 a.m. at the Meador & Son Funeral Home, Rumford, with the Rev. David Zamboni officiating. Interment will be in the Maine Veterans Memorial Cemetery, Augusta.
